Regulatory Service

Books are the ladder of human progress, compliance is the cornerstone of enterprise security, books can be divided into hundreds of categories, laws and regulations are so different too. New books are being written, new laws and regulations are being updated. According to statistics, the annual loss caused by compliance problems to the food industry is about 15% of its output value. Mastering global dynamics and being aware of changes in regulations are essential skills for an enterprise. However, as numerous as books, food regulations are also numerous, often leaving companies bewildering.

Mérieux NutriSciences has a professional regulatory service team in more than 70 major trading countries and regions around the world, which can help you with pre-assessment, risk avoidance and compliance operations.

Regarding compliance services, we can provide you with the following services based on the major trading countries in the world:
